G. TSOHOS

ABSTRACT

The AASHTO method of flexible pavement is the newest one. The following factors, subgrade, traffic (ESAL) and terminal serviceability index, influence the value of structural number (SN).

In this paper has been examined the influence of the before mentioned factors. The results of the sensitivity analysis have shown that the subgrade is the most important parameter, followed by the traffic. The influence of terminal serviceability index is negligible.